when I'm bad, but when I'm bad she loves me when I'm good.

I don't like her to pass me.

Her don't care if I'm good or bad, but they care if I'm good again.

She loves me when she cuts and sews

My little cloak on Sunday clothes;

And when my Ma comes home to tea,

She loves me most as much as me.

She laughs at me till I tell all I said,

And grabs me up and puts me down;

And I hug her, and she's gone.

And she loves me part sight much as Ma.
